

Setting up a transect line

When setting up a transect line, try to find a part of the beach that gives you a good range of organisms to survey.

Circular quadrats made of joined irrigation piping are useful here.